Obeyed Orders.

Gen. Hughes, who recently returned from the Philippines tells a story about an Irish volunteer private who was acting as guard over a captured Spanish storehouse, and had received orders to pass no one without a special order from the Provost Marshal of Manila. Gen. Hughes was Provost Marshal at the time and when he drew near the storehouse he found his stomach very close to a triangular Springfield bayonet and heard in rich Milesian brogue: "Halt! If yez come a step further I'll jam this inter yez!" "Why not?" asked the General. "Niver moind," said the private. "I know me orders. 'Tis a pass yez must have from the Provost Marshal." "Well, I am the Provost Marshal," said Gen. Hughes. "Tis I that don't care if yez be the President. Divil a foot yez'll sit inside here till yez show me yer pass." The general drew out a blankbook and scribbled a pass.

The private surveyed it and passed Gen. Hughes with the remark: "Why didn't yez do that without all this palaver?"

From Painter to Preacher

There arrived in this city yesterday in a neat, two-horse covered wagon Sam Pursley and his family, who were on the way from Paducah to Glasgow says the Bowling Green Times-Journal. Mr. Pursley formerly lived in this city. It was fifteen years ago and he was a painter by trade, and then made no pretensions in a religious way, but now he is devoting himself entirely to the service of his Master, who he says has greatly blessed him since he lived in Bowling Green.

He has no fixed home, but travels about over the country preaching the Gospel from his wagon and calling on the people to flee the wrath to come. The wagon is covered with lettered quotations from the Bible and from the wagon he does his preaching, his family assisting by singing sacred songs. Unlike most traveling preachers, he and his family are all nicely and neatly dressed and have the air of well-to-do people. He takes up no collection as he travels through the country and his preaching is wholly a labor of love. He will leave to-day for Glasgow, which at one time was his home.

two dollars a week and their washing, but when they come "out home in the brush" they cut a splurge that is amusing, extremely amusing, to the country acquaintances. The lads have forgotten how they used to cross the old Public Square as the chief pilot of the brindle cow, or how they brought up the week's "laying" of eggs to trade for brown sugar and a stick of candy thrown in. They have forgotten the dirty face, running nose, one galled and stone-bruise. Just wait till warm weather and you will see a lot of these now world-famous business men "just drop in to kill a little time." It's not more than one in half-a-dozen who turn dandy in this way, but some of them do, and when they come around be sure to take off your hat, offer your chair and make much-a-do, for they are monied men, having probably as much as five dollars and a return ticket.—Ex.

Long-lived Family

Mr. William H. Brown, of Hart county, who is visiting his nephew, Rev. J. B. Crouch, at this place, is a member of a family remarkable for their longevity. There are seven brothers and sisters who have already passed the time allotted to man on earth, their combined ages being 562 years. All are widows and widowers, having already outlived their husbands and wives many years. Mr. Brown is 82 and is sprightly for one of his age. While in Falmouth he has had a little success in angling for the funny tribe, of which sport he is very fond. He is an interesting old gentleman and talks entertainingly of things that happened nearly three quarters of a century ago. He says that Bro. Crouch's great-grandfather, Capt. Jno. H. Yates, was in the Revolutionary war and lived to be 103 years old—Falmouth Penderletonian.
